Processing an International Child Support Case

As the Interjurisdictional Legal Liaison for the California Department of Child Support Services, I helped child support professionals from all over the world regarding international child support cases. For instance, U.S. caseworkers asked about what forms must be sent, or whether a particular document must be translated; our international partners asked why a U.S. child support agency will not enforce the international order or how to coordinate a telephonic court appearance for the creditor. This presentation will focus on cases with the U.S. and provide a practical discussion of the most frequently asked questions.
